

TENTH AIR FORCE (10 AF) LOGISTICS Critical Information List (CIL)

Critical Information is information about friendly activities, intentions, capabilities or limitations that an adversary needs in order to gain a military, political, diplomatic, or technological advantage. Such information, if released to an adversary prematurely, may prevent or forestall mission accomplishment, reduce mission effectiveness, or cause loss of lives and/or damage to friendly resources.

Protect the Critical Information listed below.

- Specific numerical information on systems, on-hand equipment, or supplies available for support
- Aircraft Maintenance Status and Repair Schedules
- Programmed Unit Equipment and Personnel Changes
- Exercise Schedules and Training Scenarios
- Aircraft Spares and Engine Fill Rates and Levels
- Unit Mission Changes

GENERAL

- Date, location, numbers of persons or specific equipment involved in deployments, exercises, training or operations
- Current or future exercise, contingency and deployment rotation requirements to include rotation dates, location, unit line numbers, unit type codes, shortfalls, and number of personnel or aircraft
- Training availability or shortages; unique training requirements
- Computer Program Passwords and User Ids
- Unique methods, equipment, or tactics, which if disclosed, would cause serious degradation to the ability to accomplish the mission
- Specific mobility requirements