

MISHAP PREVENTION GUIDANCE

Colonel Edward S. Brewer
Commander

1. Safety is everyone's responsibility and must be an integral part of our culture!
2. Protecting our resources is vital to our success.
3. Unnecessary risk jeopardizes our mission, Airmen and resources.
4. DO NOT allow safety to be sacrificed in the name of expediency. There is no task so urgent or important that it must be accomplished at the expense of sound Risk Management principles.

The following principles form the foundation for the 314 AW's safety program:

- Do your job safely and correctly the first time using established guidance, procedures, focus, and sound judgment.
- Be assertive in challenging the hazardous actions or marginal performance of others. There is no circumstance that requires you to "bend the rules" to meet an operational requirement.
- Off-duty safety awareness and risk management is every bit as important as on-duty efforts.

OPR: 314 AW/SE

Prescribed by: AFI 91-202

RELEASABILITY: There are no releasability restrictions on this publication.
