SUMMARY OF CHANGES

This document has been substantially revised and needs to be completely reviewed. Major changes include updating Headquarters Air Force key stakeholder organizations in roles and responsibilities due to recent reorganization changes and reduction of acronyms, jargon, and administrative changes in alignment with the Air Force effort to reduce publications.

2. Policy.

2.1. The Strategy, Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution process guides the Air Force alignment of resources to requirements while responding to policy and fiscal constraints from the Department of Defense. The Air Force supports the Department of Defense in facilitating resources and prioritizing capabilities to align equipment, manpower, and support that enables the Department of Defense to make fiscally sound decisions in support of the National Security Strategy and National Defense Strategy. Department of Defense Directive 7045.14 establishes and outlines the Department of Defense’s prescribed Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution process to develop, validate, approve, and implement fiscally sound decisions.

2.2.1. Strategy provides guiding principles to influence and inform decisions related to organizational structures, planning, programming, acquisition, and requirements. Strategy identifies major vector changes necessary to direct how the Air Force organizes, trains and equips, and provides the future force. Strategy is linked to planning through the Air Force Design Blueprint and Capability Development Guidance.

2.2.2. Planning translates and constrains design into an integrated, balanced, and prioritized plan to guide the programming and budgeting phases toward a winning future force and effectively shape strategic communications.

2.2.3. Programming allocates Future Year(s) Defense Program resources guided by the Air Force planning choices, Congress, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, fiscal guidance, and fact-of-life changes; and reinforces the Air Force strategic message.

2.2.4. Budgeting updates Program Objective Memorandum pricing, applies fact-of-life changes and economic assumptions, incorporates changes directed by the Office of Management and Budget and the Office of the Secretary of Defense, codifies justification, and defends the budget to Congress consistent with the Air Force strategic message.

2.2.5. Execution expends the resources as appropriated by law, consistent with Air Force strategy.
2.3. In implementing the policies established in this directive and to promote a cohesive Strategy, Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution process, it is essential that Air Force Strategy, Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution policy and procedures be codified and centrally managed.
